2. The Dunne Scholarship.—Principal, £1,000. Established in 1884 under the will of the late Very Rev. W. J. Dunne, of Hobart, Tasmania. Value, £55.

4. The McCarthy Scholarship.—Principal, £1,000. The late Miss McCarthy, of Leinster Hall, Darlington, bequeathed the capital in 1918 in memory of her brother, the late Francis J. McCarthy, M.A. Value, £35.

5. The Dalley Scholarship.—Principal, £1,000. Bequeathed in 1921 by the late Mrs. M. A. Dalley, of Ashfield, in memory of her husband, the late Richard Bede Dalley. Value, £40.

B. Entrance Scholarships

(Open to students becoming residents of the College and entering upon their First Year in any Faculty and awarded annually for previous scholastic proficiency.)

6. The Freehill Scholarship.—Principal, £1,000. Founded under the will of Francis Bede Freehill, M.A., student and Fellow of the College, who died in 1908. Value, £45.

7. The Ellwood Scholarship.—Principal, £1,000. The bequest was made in 1934 by the late Miss Eliza Ellwood in memory of her parents John and Margaret Ellwood. Value, £30.

C. Special Awards

8. The Dalley Prize.—Principal, £1,000. Founded under the will of Mrs. M. A. Dalley in 1921 in memory of her son, the late John George Dalley. To be awarded annually for proficiency in any one subject of study other than a religious one. Value, £40.

9. The James Murphy Bursaries, founded under the will of the late James Murphy, of Como, N.S.W., are intended for the sons of Roman Catholic parents whose means are insufficient to enable them to study Agricultural Science at Sydney University without financial assistance. Should such Bursars come into residence at St. John's College, the Trustee (Perpetual Trustee Co. Ltd.) will pay all Collegiate fees for the four years of the course to a limited number of students.

10. The Thomas Keenan Bursaries.—Principal, £2,000. Founded in 1925 under the will of the late Francis John Keenan, of Rose Bay, for the benefit of one or two, or two or more, students in the Faculties of Science or Engineering. At the discretion of Council award is at Entrance and may be for one year (in which case the Bursary may be reawarded annually to the recipient) or for a full course of four years. Two Bursaries are usually awarded, of annual value of £35 each.

11. The Watson Scholarship.—Principal, £3,300. Founded under the will of Miss Ellen Maud Watson in 1938 in memory of Alexander Gunning and Ellen Maud Watson "for the benefit of a student of Medicine in St. John's College". At the discretion of Council the award is made upon the results achieved in the First or in any subsequent year of the Faculty of Medicine, and shall be held by the recipient until he has concluded his Final Year in Medicine, provided the recipient continues to reside in the College, conducts himself and passes his annual examinations to the satisfaction of Council. Annual value, £135.